This is in reply to your letter of 19 June to Mr. Allen Dulles concerning the delay in the refund of your retirement. We regret very much that there was such a delay in clearing with the Civil Service Commission your request for refund of your retirement with the result that you had to pay additional interest to the Northeast Federal Credit Union. However, you will realize that your indebtedness to the Credit Union was a matter which you were obligated to settle prior to the release of your retirement contributions, and that the interest on this indebtedness would continue until the cash payment was made. This was the date of payment by the Civil Service Commission and not the date of your assignment of power of attorney. It is regrettable that this may have cost you additional interest, but it does not constitute a recoverable claim against either the United States Government or this agency.

We are taking the necessary steps to ascertain why there was a delay in processing your claim for refund and to insure that it does not happen in the future.

Sincerely yours,

Signed
